Institutional Distinctiveness

The Board of Directors, administrators, teachers and students have been striving to realize the vision of the institute as a unique academic centre through quality based education and community welfare activities. The distinctiveness of our institute may be experienced through the full involvement, commitment to quality work and urge to work for the depressed and deprived stakeholders of our area but the single most significant activity that sets our institute apart from others and makes it distinctive is the NCC unit of our college. The unit works as per the norms and regulations laid down by the government and the university but it has proved its distinctiveness over a fairly long period of five years. Apart from its routine activities, the unit has emerged as a springboard for recruitment into different defence related services. For the last five years, 38 cadets have been recruited into Army, CRPF and State Police department services. This is the highest number of cadets from a college NCC unit being recruited into services in our area. Students in our area make special efforts to get admission to the NCC unit as they are quite sure about the recruitments. This makes our college distinctive as it promotes the vision of our college – self–reliance through education. It is so practically useful and idealistic that it has become our thrust activity. It has turned a regular and usual activity into an unusual mechanism of employment generation to students.
